Wireless Home Phone device is not a cellphone, it's a base unit to which standard landline phone equipment is connected. Voice services only. 2-year contract required.

AT&T Video Call: Not available in all areas. Usage and Charges: Each Video Call uses both voice and data (unless on Wi-Fi). The voice portion counts towards voice minutes and video portion counts as data usage under your existing wireless rate plan. Requirements: All parties to a Video Call must be AT&T postpaid wireless customers with Video Call-capable devices and located within AT&T HD Voice coverage. Device selection is limited at this time. Unless disabled, Video Call capability is displayed to other AT&T Video Call-capable customers. Wi-Fi: Once started or received on the mobile network, Video Calls automatically switch to Wi-Fi if your device accesses an available Wi-Fi Internet connection. An AT&T wireless network connection is still required even while on Wi-Fi. Voice and data charges do not apply to Video Call over Wi-Fi. If you move in or out of Wi-Fi coverage while using Video Call, your call will disconnect unless you have AT&T HD Voice coverage. Incompatible Services and Features: AT&T Video Call requires an account that is set up for HD Voice. HD Voice is incompatible with AT&T Smart Limits, Office Direct and OfficeReach. Visit att.com/hdvoice for more information. For more details on AT&T Video Call, see the AT&T Video Call FAQ.
